Chicago Rallies for Defense Test Today

MARCHES WITH NATION TRYING NEW METHOD

Gen. Hale Thanks City's People.

Opening with a bugle call shortly after 7 this morning, America's first defense day will be filled with activity until the last event late tonight.

Chicago, headquarters of the 8th corps area, is the center of the demonstrations which, under orders from Maj. Gen. Harry C. Hale, will be held throughout this state, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Similar activity will be felt throughout the cities of the country.

Cannon to Give Signal.

The boom of a French "75," probably a relic from the world war, will set in motion at 11:45 this forenoon the test of the arrangements made to put men enough to represent large portions of two reserve divisions into various open spaces in Chicago. The parts of these divisions, representing one of cavalry and one of infantry, will be under the command of the officers who probably would be called on to take charge of them, if there were an actual call to the colors.

The object of the test, as described by an officer of Gen. Hale's staff, is to demonstrate the reserves available in the city, including food, medical attention, if necessary, called on for active duty.

Time to Thank Public.

Gen. Hale will be at the microphone at 10 a.m. and will speak a few minutes after his speech has been sounded.

The general will have a message of thanks.

The firing of the cannon will be the signal to 5,000 men assembled in the various big business houses and department stores in the loop, and in the next five minutes these will be on the march under the orders of trained reserve officers.

The head of the column will start at Marshall Field & Co.'s wholesale plant at Adams and Franklin streets. A band will precede this unit of 1,000 men and as the column passes other various business houses, others will fall in line.

Hard Test for Officers.

The Chicago reserve officers have told representatives of the army that they can march the whole 5,000 men out of their various places of employment through the loop into Grant Park in fifteen minutes.

Once in Grant Park, they will form companies, battalions, regiments, and units brigades and other units.

They will remain there until 1:30, then the movement back to and through the loop, thence into their niches in the commercial life of the city will begin for them all. If the reserve officers can bring the 5,000 out in fifteen minutes, it is calculated, they can bring them in again in fifteen minutes and that will be another test.

No Show of Mailed Fist.

"So many well meaning people have made the mistake of taking this test and this day as some stern militaristic thing," a member of Gen. Hale's staff said. "Why, it is nothing of the kind, or a mobilization or test mobilization would mean a marshalling of resources far different from this."

"This is not even a test of man power, except insofar as the enthusiasm of most civilians and their show of patriotic spirit has far surpassed our expectations. It is simply a test of the men we have trained, a test of the army too, in a sense. We have to see how well we have done our job of training and how well they have done their job of learning.

They are confident. We want to know whether they can do what they can do.

Now with a real defense test, it could be far different. In the first place, such a test would mean a test of mobilization, the organization of national selective service or draft boards.

Would Affect Industries, Too.

It would mean the marshaling of the industries on a war basis to determine how many of them could be depended on for munitions.

At the same time there would be real tests of man power, the testing of men, checking over their records, a demobilization by the employer of the kind and number of men.

Then there would be a test of the stock industry. How many horses mules could we get from this state? how many from that? What animals are now on hand, columns to

NAME MABEL NORMAND IN A $1,000,000 SUIT

Norman W. Church Sued for Divorce.

BY GEORGE SHAFER.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 11.—(Special)—The name of Mabel Normand was linked with that of Norman W. Church, Los Angeles financier, today, and a new sensation in Hollywood's spicy affairs was promised. Legal papers in a $1,000,000 divorce suit of Mrs. Georgia Withington Church, former Wisconsin girl, were filed with the county clerk.

The papers reciting the details of Mrs. Church's complaint, which charges her husband with adultery and extreme cruelty, include several other women's names besides that of the aforementioned Mabel Normand. The bulky complaint also cites a number of compromising incidents asserted to have taken place in Chicago and elsewhere between the millionaire clubman and an Esther Bonney and a Grace MacDowell, both of Chicago.

Told of "Nightie" Visit.

The suit asserts that her wealthy spouse confined to Mrs. Church's dower house in a room in the basement of the Good Samaritan home.

DANISH PAPERS
DECRY CAVERLY FOR "LIFE TERM"

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 11.—America

again has shown its lack of culture and nobility—in this the essence of criticism of the Danish newspapers of the decision of Judge Caverly sentencing Nathan Leopold Jr. and Loeb to life imprisonment. A conservative newspaper said:

"We must be aware of being European when such things can happen in modern America.

Europe is bungled, but it has preserved its civilization."

Liberal papers ask if Judge Caverly would have given the same sentence, had the murderers been poor men

scum."

Judge John R. Caverly was again

variously flayed and landed yesterday for his sentence of life imprisonment on Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb for the slaying of Robert Franks.

Those who criticized the jury said the sentence should have been death on the gallows; and these held forth little hope for the future of capital punishment as a deterrent of murder.

Some even said capital punishment must as well be abolished, and they defended the effect on society in general.

A number of prominent women were among those ready to express their approval or disapproval, and here is what some of those who commented said:

CHARLES H. HOLDEN, president of Chicago Crime Commission—It is confession of criminal law enforcement bankruptcy to suggest that public opinion will not tolerate further imposition of the death penalty, because in this case youth was considered as a bar to the death penalty. On the contrary, there will be a stiffening of the stand of the public and a realization of the value of sentimentality in dealing with the criminal.

EDWARD F. DUNNE, ex-governor of Illinois—I think the sober judgment of the people, when the temporary excitement calms down, will uphold

Judge Caverly's action. He did a wise thing, however, in urging that the murders never be pardoned or released.

"Good-by, boys."

Loeb, hesitating a moment, put out his hand which the jailer accepted, and then the two boys went to the cars.

Westbrook holding a hand of each. No smiles now.

CAVERLY VERDICT BRINGS HOPE TO CONDENMED BOY

Bernard Grant, 19, Feared
All Chances Gone.

Of those who rejoiced when Judge Caverly spared from the noose Leopold and Loeb, slayers of little Robert Franks, there was none so enthusiastic as a youth who occupied a half-forgotten cell in the county jail.

The boy, Bernard Grant, sentenced to die Oct. 17 for the murder during an attempted holdup of a Chicago policeman, Bernard is just 19, the same age as the two boys just given life terms.

"And we had about quit fighting, thinking all hope was lost," Attorney Thomas E. Swanson, Grant's counsel, declared last night.

New Basis for Appeal.

The Caverly decision gives us new hope. We have a powerful precedent to fight for, to argue before Gov. Small—now the sole intervening power between this boy and the gallows."

"Grant," Mr. Swanson continued, "is the son of a poor laborer, a boy with no schooling and crude home training. Surely there is some argument for commuting the extreme penalty when those two college superintellectuals are to escape the noose."

Almost as much interested in the outcome of the Leopold-Loeb trial is Walter Krauser, also 19, convicted with Grant, and who is awaiting the decision of the Supreme court on an appeal.

Case Against His Son.

The murder in which the boys are held was that of Ralph Scuders, a pro-labor policeman, on Dec. 1922, during an attempted holdup of an Atlantic and Pacific tire store.

Both boys were arrested by Police Lieutenant Michael Grady's squad the day after the shooting. Krauser came out of the county jail a few days ago, from his cell in the county jail, said his story, involving Grant, was untrue. Mr. Swanson asserts Grant never has confessed and was never proved guilty.

In rebuttal of the argument that justice had been done in the murder case State's Attorney Grove pointed to the fact that Nicholas Vlans was only 17 when sentenced and 15 when executed on Dec. 10, 1920.

Six who pleaded guilty but were subjected to the noose despite their plea were Alfred C. Fields, 24 years old, hanged Oct. 16, 1898; Julius Landauer, 27, hanged Oct. 30, 1898; Daniel McCarthy, 27, hanged Feb. 19, 1897; Louis Peasant, 23, hanged Aug. 8, 1902; Rich ard Walton, 23, hanged Dec. 13, 1907; Thomas R. Fitzgerald, 28, hanged Oct. 17, 1919.

French Send More Troops Back Home Across Rhine

BERMUNDEN, Germany, Sept. 11.—(Special)—The Associated Press—Preparations for the departure of the French troops from Dortmund, Boerde, and Duren now are well under way, and numerous marching battalions have already departed across the Rhine. The French already have vacated numerous school buildings in the Gelius-Kirchen, Gladbach, and Buer areas. They also are effecting a heavy reduction in their administrative staffs.

FOUND UNCONSCIOUS; LATER DIES.
David Rothstein, 62, 1424 South Halsted street, died yesterday at the County hospital here after having been found unconscious in front of his home. His son said he had been ill for some time.

Pershing, and Mrs. George S. Owen, president of the Government club.

GERMANY PAYS $5,000,000 MORE IN REPARATIONS

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—Germany paid the second $20,000 gold marks ($45,000,000) installment to Owen D. Young, agent general for reparations, today, while the Franco-Belgian railroad administration and customs officials began transferring many other millions into the banks.

Both boys were arrested by Police Lieutenant Michael Grady's squad the day after the shooting. Krauser came out of the county jail a few days ago, from his cell in the county jail, said his story, involving Grant, was untrue. ## SPIRIT OF 1776 MARCHES TODAY IN DEFENSE TEST

Wave of Patriotism Fires Nation's Capital.

By JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—"Back to the village green for today, like the train bands of your ancestors who won your country worth defending," is Secretary of War Weeks' message to his fellow citizens throughout the land in this eve of defense day.

That was the whole spirit this evening in and around the huge state, war, and navy building, which piles itself in gloomy grandeur next to the gleaming White House.

It was the spirit combining excited anticipation of, and most marvelous by detailed preparation for, the biggest peace time training day this continent had known since old times in the colonies when your great-grandfathers had great-grandfathers maneuvered in the village green with fine looking muskets and wound up the day with copious draughts of rum and the brandy being saved for the village parson.

Handed Down by Fathers.

Direct to the frontiersmen there have Secretary Weeks and the technicians of the war department gone for the fundamentals of their plans for America's first peace time national defense test since the days of the trail bands.

The secretary said:

"The system to be tested for the first time by our citizens tomorrow in America."

"I hope citizens will note that fact, as the inclination after the world war was to turn to European sources for our military system."

"But studies by members of congress, army, navy, and national guard officers and world veterans have convinced us that the American defense system outlined by George Washington, Alexander Hamilton, and Thomas Jefferson was 'correct.'

Test Not Imperialistic.

"The precedent for the defense test is neither imported nor imperialistic. It is part of the very bone and sinew of our people, and is their direct inheritance from the founders of the republic."

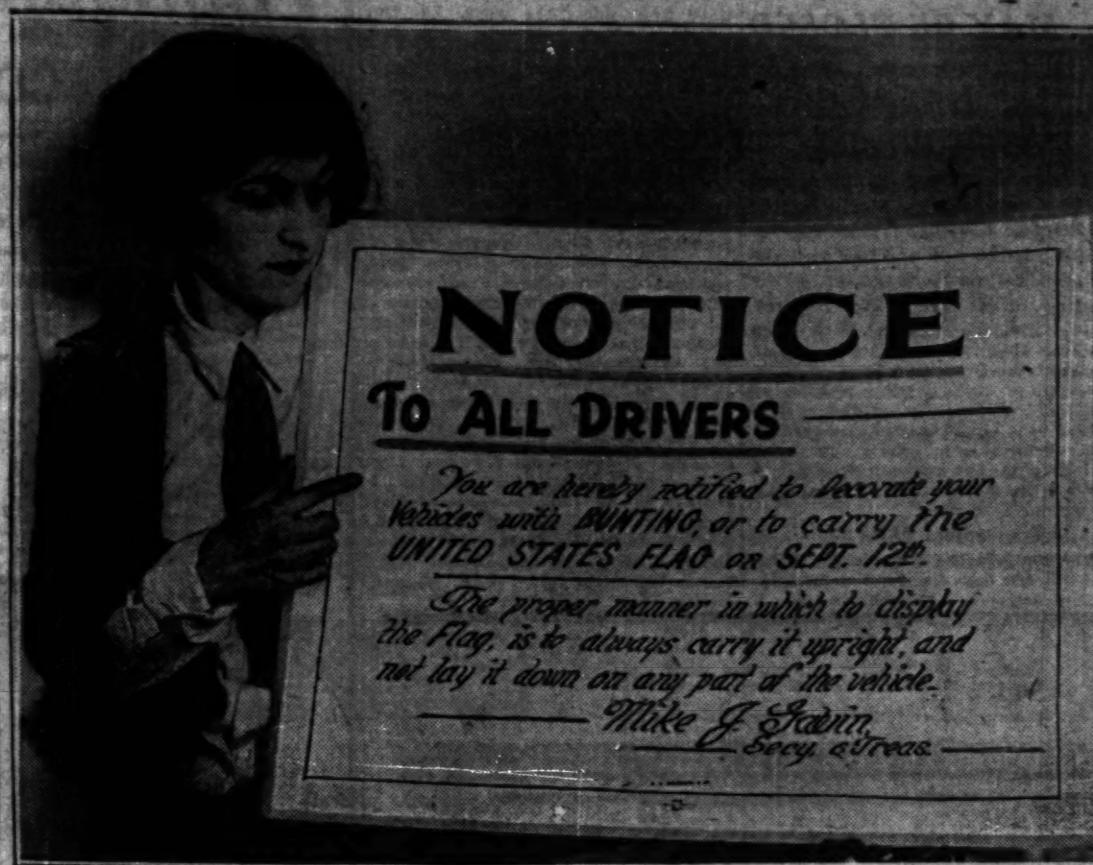

"The militia act of 1792 is its source, and that act laid down the truly democratic doctrine every able bodied male citizen owed military service to his country. It also provides for a system of enrollment and territorial recruiting."

"The defense test of tomorrow is an effort to apply that doctrine under the vastly enlarged conditions of our country's present."

Plans for Four Years.

The secretary of war then brought out the fact, which will be news to many, that for four years the war department has been continuously engaged on plans considered essential for the skeleton forces provided by Congress in the act of June 4, 1920, which established the military system by which our citizen forces are to be raised, organized, trained, and supplied in the event of an emergency.

STRESSING DEFENSE DAY

Mrs. Ruth Mohr, 7640 Oakwood boulevard, is shown with poster prepared by Michael J. Galvin of the Teamsters' union. It is one of the publicity features designed to arouse everyone in the city to the importance of Defense day and to their duties respecting it. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

In other words, the continuous training day on the nation-wide village green has required four years of intensive thought and action by scores of the most accurate minds surrounding Secretary Weeks.

The village green origins of tomorrow's ocean to ocean training day are well known in Washington, where at once picturized in a homely, and the far stretches of lawn lying between the iron fence of Uncle Calvin Coolidge's back yard and the Washington monument a little reviewing stand for the chief magistrate and other high officials has been erected, and on the grass in front of it all the regular and volunteer forces will concentrate for "the patriotic demonstration" after the mile and a quarter march up Pennsylvania avenue from the peace monument in front of the capitol.

Capital Takes It Seriously.

That march will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The list of organizations participating in it will fill three columns of THE TRIBUNE solid. You can see from this that Washington, which within the memory of some living heard the third of horse cannon and saw Abraham Lincoln standing in a window of the White House, saying, "Why don't they come?" as he waited succoring troops from the north—this Washington, you can see, is taking Defense day very earnestly.

It is taking it very earnestly for the moment, both sentimental and practical. The practical point is that it does not want to live to see flour go up to $15 a barrel as defenseless Washington did see it go on April 22, 1861.

Whole City Takes Part.

So in tomorrow's great march there will be District of Columbia commissioners, defense test committee members, defense test volunteers, army and navy bands, civilian bands, regular infantry, cavalry, and artillery, wagon and motor troops, engineers, ammunition trains, and the deep eyed planners of the general staff.

Here is another village green touch: the "patriotic demonstration" after the mile and a quarter march will be held at the village milestone. But really it is the nation's milestone for it is the marker of granite behind the White House which is called "Zero Milestone" and from which army aerial flights and auto test trips across the continent are officially measured.

If weather conditions are right, Defense day in this village is going to wind up with what army officers believe will be the most tremendous feat of broadcasting in the history of radio. Along toward 10 o'clock Gen. John Joseph Pershing, then only a few months away from his 64th birthday and from his retirement as general commanding the armies of the United States, will say his wireless good-bye to his companions in arms throughout the land. He will speak these good-byes into the ears of Gen. Mason, commanding at San Francisco; Gen. Hale, commanding at Chicago, and Gen. Bullard, commanding at Governor's Island.

For this farewell, the most spectacular since Prophet Elijah made his goodbye from a chariot of fire, 35,240 miles of wire will be used and the personnel of telephone repeater attendants, test board men, telegraph operators, technical men, and supervisors and transmission tests will total 185.

The Chicago station for this history making "so-long-and-God-bless-you" will be WGN.

EUROPE REVIVED, U. S. BOOSTED BY DAWES—CURTIS

Senator Returns Happy
Over Effect of "Plan."

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—In evolving the reparations settlement plan, Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for Vice President, not only wrought the salvation of Europe, but restored to America the European market and accomplished more toward world reconstruction than any single man since the war.

This is the opinion of Senator Curtis (Rep.), a majority whip of the senators, who returned today from where he was a special delegate to the meeting of the interparliamentary union at Bern.

"The early operation of the Dawes plan will stimulate business in the United States," said Senator Curtis.

"In Germany the situation is not good. Conditions are worse than last summer. There are many men unemployed. Taxation is a burden. They claim it is vastly greater than ours.

Germany Now to Get a Market.

"All believed it would be a wonderful help in restoring pre-war conditions. Many believe the Dawes plan, which was adopted during the session of the senate, will be the best alternative presented for the economic rehabilitation of Europe and the world.

Sees Era of Good Times Ahead.

"I am sure that the Dawes plan will prove very beneficial to business. Europe was took two-thirds of our exports and sent us one-half of our imports. With increased purchasing power Europe will buy more from us. Our home markets too, should improve. Business in the United States is on a sound basis. Our farmers are coming into their own. The grain crop in Russia and America is very poor. With our agricultural classes buying again and our political outlook assured after November, we should have an era of good times ahead of us."

Conditions of Former Allies.

Commenting upon conditions in France and England, Senator Curtis said:

"France is very prosperous. I crossed it twice. Its crops are good, business is good, and the currency is strong. Faith in the president is the predominant note in the political situation as I see it today," said Mr. Chindblom. "Davis is through. He has fallen flat."

GIGANTIC GLACIER IS TUMBLING DOWN SIDE OF SHASTA MOUNTAIN

Treka, Cal., Sept. 11.—[United Press.]—All glacial speed limits are being broken on Mount Shasta, one of the highest peaks on the North American continent. The main stream of the mountain's five streams started toward the bottom yesterday and is still plowing its irresistible way through the morainal deposits, uprooting great trees and hurling boulders as large as houses before it.

The roar made by the march of the gigantic ice mass can be heard for miles around. A stream of melt water along with the ice, which is traveling at the rate of five miles an hour, prevents a detailed study of the unusual movement.

Mountaineers believe that this second glacial disturbance has nothing to do with the first of such phenomena this season, when two glaciers on the south side of the mountain slipped into a pocket and cascaded a river of mud into the valley.

The war region is practically complete.

She has largely increased her investments in southeastern Europe. Her industrial and military position is stronger than ever.

"In England the situation is not good. Conditions are worse than last summer. There are many men unemployed. Taxation is a burden. They claim it is vastly greater than ours.

BRITAIN SEEKS TO BE POLICEMAN OF WORLD'S SEAS

Requests Right to Seize Ships During Wartime.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.) (Copyright: 1924; By The Chicago Tribune.) GENEVA, Sept. 11.—Great Britain today made a mass move to obtain world recognition of its sea supremacy.

Neutral observers state that under the disguise of becoming the league of nations' sole water police Britain seeks to have all the powers acknowledge its right to establish blockades and admit its privilege of stopping, searching, and seizing neutral shipping in time of war.

Speaking before the first consultation on naval and aeronautical matters this afternoon, Sir Cecil Hurst stated that Great Britain would consent to apply naval sanctions for the league against any aggressive power disturbing the world peace. If all the other nations would agree that the English fleet was entitled to patrol the world's lanes and assert its prerogatives whenever necessary in case of another conflict.

Mistress of Seas Again.

The adoption of such a measure would proclaim England again the indisputable mistress of the seas and permit it to hold up and capture shipping carrying cargoes directly or indirectly to a belligerent country.

It is recalled that during the Washington arms conference Lord Balfour offered that the British would undertake the policing of the seas, but the offer was rejected by both the United States and Japan.

This point also provoked a serious and prolonged controversy between Great Britain on one side and the United States, Holland, and Scandinavia on the other during the world war. Washington and the other capitals protested against the legality of a British blockade of Germany because it was directed at neutrals, and also contested the British claim to the right of stopping, searching, and seizing American merchantmen in neutral ports as illegal and a violation of the international high seas laws.

Other Powers Must Agree.

Sir Cecil stated a condition of Great Britain's accepting the role of ocean policeman is that the powers to do the laundry of their operations and pledge themselves not to start arbitration cases against it for carrying out the mission.

The British believe the league would endorse the proposal, but are dubious as to whether the United States, Germany, and Russia, not being members, can be induced to accept.

In that case the onus for the failure of the scheme would rest with the nonratification of the restrictions on the traffic in arms and munitions.

Certain observers here see in the adoption of the British proposal an overthrow of the Washington naval accords and the status quo of the Pacific. With Great Britain acting alone, it could then have the right to do what it pleases.

It is pointed out that it would clearly be entitled to insist on possessing additional cruisers and other war craft beyond the tonnage allowed in the 5-5 ratio, and also additional naval bases for its patrol ship in distant waters.

France to Back Britain.

France now is backing into position to support the British proposal, as under the tentative plan for applying sanctions to aggressor nations England would assume the responsibility for principal naval action, while France, with the little entente, assumes the task for land warfare.

Under this scheme Great Britain would include aviation as part of its naval defense program and at the same time seek an accord with France. The result of the agreement between Premier Herriot and Prime Minister MacDonald is that they believe the league would be neglecting its duty if it did not try to do something for Georgia.

Indications that Great Britain and France are contemplating eventual intervention in Russia came up today in the assembly. The rich oil deposits in the Caucasus, the great power to come to terms in Georgia coincidentally with the outbreak of revolution in that soviet state, although during the last four years delegations of Georgians seeking independence and support from the league have been turned away.

Considers Georgian Revolt.

The league took cognizance of the Georgian revolution by passing a resolution proposed by France, Great Britain, and Belgium, directing the council to "seize any opportunity to help return that country to a normal situation."

Speaking before the assembly, Paul Boncour of France said:

"We are now talking about peace while blood is flowing in Georgia and the state of war exists between two states. They are not members of the league, but the covenant provides that the league may deal with anything affecting world peace. This is the result of an agreement between Premier Herriot and Prime Minister MacDonald."

They believe the league would be neglecting its duty if it did not try to do something for Georgia.

Temperature About 58.

The temperature in the class rooms the last few days has been about 58.

Contractors are blamed for the sitsation in about half of the cases, although the board was late letting contracts.

Chief Engineer John Howatt has notified firms doing the work that the buildings will be kept open Saturdays and Sundays to hurry the work. At the Fulton School for Crippled Children repairmen are working twenty-four hours a day.

Contractors Are Warned.

Mr. Howatt directed special delivery letters to the contractors who had signed in their work and explained the necessity of haste. Their contracts, he said, fixed Sept. 1 as the date of completion, and any salaries paid teachers due to dismissal of schools will be charged against these firms.

"We are late every year in letting the school buildings," Mr. Howatt said. "If we fail to inspect our boilers early enough," Mr. Howatt explained. "The heating plants are inspected once a year by the city."

At present there still are fifty school buildings to be inspected.

The schools without heat until Oct. 1 are the Ward, Phil Shuman, Shakespear, Webster, and the new Calvary, Webster, Mark Sheridan, Skinner, Ardubon, Conoley, Mulligan Branch, Raymond, Kohn Branch, Fallon, Haines, Henry, Moseley, and Riles.

MANY SCHOOLS, LACKING HEAT, MAY BE CLOSED

Action Depends on Coming Weather.

Twenty public schools have been without heat during the cool weather of the last few days. They may be closed between now and Oct. 1, if the temperature continues to drop, as the heating plants are being repaired.

Since Monday children have been wearing their wraps and sweaters in classrooms. Principals have been instructed to have children bundle up well and wear warm clothing. One school—the Ridge—closed yesterday. Principals in others complained of the cold, but classes remained in session, in the absence of definite instructions to dismiss.

If for those who cannot come to the spring, we give below a few expressions of appreciation. Read every word. Then put it to your suffering by giving it a trial.

C. A. Coe of Palos Park, Ill.
Who Discovered the New Famous Dynell Spring.

Wonderful Results

Mr. Coe invites the public to come out to the spring, drink from this "FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH" free of charge and join the host of grateful ones who have been quickly restored to health by drinking this wonderful water.

P. W. Adams, 1344 Madison Park, Chicago, Ill., says: "I began drinking Dynell Water as a test for high blood pressure. On August 3rd my blood pressure was 190. On September 6th, after drinking Dynell Water for 30 days, it was down to 80. I am now taking my customary eating and living habits. I believe this great and remarkable improvement is entirely due to the use of Dynell Spring Water."

Frederick W. De Blieck, 4724 Lawrence Ave., Chicago, Ill., says: "It seems like a GREAT BIG DREAM for any Spring water to accomplish in two months what thousands of dollars and ten doctors could not accomplish in twelve years. In 1912 I was poisoned with some dental work, and my whole system went wrong. I was swollen from head to foot, my heart failed to function properly, and for twelve years I suffered untold misery. The doctors gave me every known ailment in the almanac, and treated me for same. Result, complete bad to the bone. In May, 1924, I started drinking DYNELL WATER, my heart is now hitting on all sixes and the swelling is fast disappearing in my limbs. I can truthfully say these results have been so wonderful it seems like magic. So many people knew of my affliction, now they are amazed at the MARVELOUS CHANGE. ASK ME! I'LL TELL THE WORLD DYNELL SPRING WATER DID THE TRICK. WILL I RECOMMEND IT? WITH ALL MY HEART! I'LL SAY I WILL. Believe me, Yours Faithfully from now on."

Timothy Rice, 805 Kilburn Ave., Chicago, Ill., says: "I was ALWAYS TROUBLED WITH GAS PAINS. About a month ago a friend of mine gave me some of your water. I got RELIEF RIGHT AWAY, and since then I have drunk two quarts of it every day. I have not had any gas pains since."

R. N. Price, 9142 S. Wincheser Ave., Chicago, Ill., says: "The writer and wife have been greatly benefited by the use of DYNELL WATER for the past three months for RHEUMATIC pains and HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE, and we take pleasure in recommending it."

M. Kennedy, 5642 S. Paulina St., Chicago, Ill., says: "After being troubled with HEARTBURN and CONSTIPATION for many years I find, after drinking five gallons of DYNELL WATER, that I am wholly relieved from these ailments."

Andrew A. Karol, 7109 S. Edmund Ave., Chicago, Ill., says: "I have been troubled with HEART TROUBLE since April 18th, 1924, at which time I under doctor's care, having stomach trouble and HIGHT BLOOD PRESSURE. I am mighty proud to attest to the wonder some thing I have derived from the use of this water, and to SAY that after consuming a few gallons I WAS ENTIRELY RELIEVED OF MY STOMACH AIILMENT, and have REDUCED MY BLOOD PRESSURE TO NORMAL."

Stephen P. Farley, 7337 Vernon Ave., Chicago, Ill., says: "I have used DYNELL SPRING WATER since April 18th, 1924, at which time I under doctor's care, having stomach trouble and HIGHT BLOOD PRESSURE. I am mighty proud to attest to the wonder ful things I have derived from the use of this water, and to SAY that after consuming a few gallons I WAS ENTIRELY RELIEVED OF MY STOMACH AIILMENT, and have REDUCED MY BLOOD PRESSURE TO NORMAL."

H. R. Maxwell, 5962 Fulton St., Chicago, Ill., says: "Having always been skeptical as to the medical properties of mineral water as a whole, I am agreeably surprised at the rapid action and benefit derived from DYNELL."

There are hundreds upon hundreds of other prominent people who have recorded the results after drinking DYNELL WATER. Many of these letters would seem exaggerated were it not for the fact that their condition today as compared to when they first came out to the spring bears out the truth of everything they say.

LA FOLLETTE AND THE GERMANS.

A committee of the St. Paulers society, headed by William Meuer, has notified Senator La Follette formally in Washington that the society in convention has informed him and that this means the delivery of $4,000,000 German votes.

Mr. Meuer said that it was painful for them to break old ties, but that the two old parties had failed in keeping the faith and the responsibility must rest upon the leaders of these parties. Mr. La Follette in accepting the support of the preferred $4,000,000 Germans said that he was gratified because the adherence was to his doctrine that corruption was destroying the comfort and happiness of the American people and was not given him, because he had opposed American entrance into the world war.

Simple Simon would be impressed by this. Since the German-Americans down vertically and the same stratification would be found that is found elsewhere in the country. There would be the capitalistic Buschis, Schults, Anheusers, etc., a great property holding, property respecting, and law abiding professional and commercial stratum, the socialistic Victor Berger and his group, and some extreme Marxian communists. They can agree on La Follette's economic and constitutional policies just as Andrew Mellon and Eugene Debs can agree.

If they were delivered to La Follette it would be because they yet have nationalistic emotion, alien to this country, above all other things, and wanted in the American election to give a vote of sympathy and recovery to Germany. La Follette opposed American participation in the war. So did other Americans, but La Follette's motives never were in the clear because if he were not making a personal political consideration the basis of his opinion he never made it appear otherwise.

La Follette now engaged ostensibly in a campaign to correct what he describes as abuses in the American internal arrangement and he fixes the responsibility for these abuses on the Republican party, although he retains a nominal membership in that party. As an item in his program he includes a demand for a revision of the treaty of Versailles and in our opinion this is the stamp of the mountebank on the side of an unwise, unscrupulous and untrustworthy politician.

He is as well posted as any one in knowing that it was the Republican party which prevented the adherence of the United States to the treaty of Versailles. This treaty was denounced as infamous by the Republican party and the senators of the party prevented its ratification. It was because of this party opposition that a separate treaty was negotiated with Germany, and the United States became the one belligerent which did not impose a punishment on Germany or add an obligation on the German future.

He knows furthermore that it has been the Republican influence under two Presidents which has constantly sought an amelioration of European conditions and which by the unofficial and disengaged participation of the Dawes commission brought about the one possibility of recovery which has been offered.

The Germans rightly regard the Versailles treaty as an injustice. The Republican party agreed with them. Mr. La Follette has as a policy our entry into Europe in the most offensive, most futile, and most mischievous fashion in which we could approach an international subject. To catch the German vote he proposes that the United States should intervene in the revision of a treaty to which it declined to become a party with and that was medicine in his chest he is a pacifist and demands the abolition of the army and navy.

For us there is no temperate way of thinking of such politics. It is criminal mischief. A social reformer, self-aliwed, who can get down to this level of vote trapping has nothing but egotism and self-seeking in his makeup.

The bait La Follette has put on the trap is, to us, a complete denial of his sense of responsibility to his own country. If he thinks the railroads are badly managed, should be nationalized and kept from bilking the farmer, he is within the privilege of honest conviction. We think he is wrong, never having heard of a politically machined utility which was not either incompetent or a loss. If he thinks that the fundamental law of the country, the constitution, should be amenable to every political campaign, he again is within the privilege of honest conviction and is again, we think, entirely wrong.

It is when he joins asserted principles with unscrupulous expediency that we deny the validity of the reformer. He is mentally dishonest.

PROPER INVESTMENT OF PUBLIC CAPITAL.

In Thursday's Vote of the People Harper Leech, who daily contributes able comment on financial and business affairs to The Tarnows under the pen name Horatius, makes some characteristically suggestive remarks. We think so well of them that we are going to reprint them here, for even if read before they are well worth a second reading and pondering.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—It seems to me that here is a time to talk that Chicago ought to get:

"The proper place to invest public capital is in such things as streets, sewers, subway roads, etc.—things which are absolutely necessary, but in which the capital has a slow turnover, and the factor of labor and management is very slight."

Where there is such a slow turnover and heavy first cost, capital charges might be so high, if private capital had to be invested, as to restrict consumption. The public can get cheaper money and amortize the charges more rapidly, in such cases, while the loss from inefficiency is practically nothing in such a thing as a sewer, a dam, or a mere hole in the ground (through which private enterprise runs a railroad system).

If subway tunnels cost $4,000,000 a mile to build, they are from the nature of things something that a city probably ought to build. HARVEY LEITCH.

P. S.—Is there any difference between building a street and letting a taxed private company run a line on it and boring a tunnel for the same purpose?

We intended to write an editorial on Mr. Leitch's views, but they require no better statement than he has made. Such of our public men as are sincerely trying to evolve a sound municipal policy, and citizens generally, are invited to think his statement over.

THE DEATH PENALTY.

M. Darow says the sentence of life imprisonment is more of a punishment than death would have been.

Why, then, were all his efforts devoted to win a life rather than a death sentence? Was he employed to secure the maximum penalty for his clients?

Why did Loeb and Lopoff and all associated with the defense show marked relief at the decision?

M. Darow was talking through his hat. Life may be worse than death, imprisonment may be worse than execution, but seldom do we find any one who shows that he feels that way when he is concerned.

And that is why the death penalty ought not to be abolished—unless, indeed, it cannot be equally imposed on all murderers of the first degree. Humanitarians, sociologists, and others who for one reason or another oppose the death penalty, have not yet weakened the argument that the fear of death is and must be a powerful deterrent, and the death penalty, therefore, a useful social preventive of crime.

It is not always effectual. Passion is often too strong for any sense of consequences. Defective intelligence often is incapable of seizing a relation of cause and effect, and therefore no fear of punishment can reach it. But there is a great deal of criminality which is neither the result of overpowering impulse or of intelligence, so defective as to be incapable of foreseeing consequences.

Indeed, the Franks case is an illustration. This crime was deliberately planned in the confidence of ability to escape, not merely discovery, if discovery occurred, extreme punishment. If there had been more hangings for murder in the experience of this community, if our administration of the criminal statutes were as expeditious and certain, as, for instance, that of England, these ones are easily affected. Passion is often too strong for any sense of consequences. Defective intelligence often is incapable of seizing a relation of cause and effect, and therefore no fear of punishment can reach it. But there is a great deal of criminality which is neither the result of overpowering impulse or of intelligence, so defective as to be incapable of foreseeing consequences.

The philosophes did not believe in the whipping the appetites. Witness the following:

"The desire of our mind ought to have no ways to incite our body to any pleasure.

In short, there is no adequate evidence to indicate that the death penalty is not an important deterrent to violence, a valuable protection to society. But the penalty should be consistently, reasonably, and equally imposed. Equally to rich and poor. In America its good effect has been greatly diminished by the slowness and uncertainties of administration, the apparent ease of evasion, the sentimental vagaries which have so often defeated justice—all of which has produced a general want of confidence in criminal justice and even a contempt for it.

THIS IS DEFENSE DAY.

This is Defense day. Six years ago this day was a twelve mile front on the southern shores of St. Michael. The Americans were going through an hour ahead of schedule in their first major action of the war. Two million Americans were in those soldiers on the new continent to the west. One hundred million more Americans were mobilized in defense of the free institutions that they had built there.

Defense day then was action. Today Defense is a memory and a prophecy and such preparatory action as a people unbroken by warfare will permit in quiet times. It is an awkward day for us, demonstrating more our futility, so far as wars on short orders are concerned, than our strength.

There will be much slipping up today and long waiting, for America is not mechanically militaristic. Without the momentum of passion to drive through to success we have achieved in war affairs only ungainly hesitation. We will do not much more today. There will be captains counting rookies who never could see service or be fit to march. There will be supply sergeants wondering where the devil the blankets should be. There will be cooks who cannot boil potatoes. Large orders will be planned but never finished. The colonel's clerk will lose the papers.

But our failures will be revealed, and that, in a democratic country, is the first step to reform. The measure will be a measure of our inherent and sometimes dangerous pacifism, not of our war lusts. This puttering mess today will prove the need for a better defense day next year. It will show that there is more to mobilization, military and civil, than strategy and bunting. The day will be a failure demonstrated without the costs in life that follow failures after war begins. In that latter kind of experiment and in its costs we have had long experience. We are inefficient. We have no business heads for military preparation. It is good that America should know it. In that, Defense day will be a great success.

'BIG TIM' MURPHY
SEEKS FREEDOM
ON 'FAHY'S DAY'

Asks Parole as Grand Jury Eyes His Foe.

Assistant District Attorney John Elliott Bryne will go before the federal grand jury today seeking the indictment of William F. Fahy, mail postman, a leader of the Rondout 12,000,000 mail robbery. At about the same hour Attorney C. Reich will be pleading with the parole board for the release of "Big Tim" Murphy, whom Fahy sent to the penitentiary for the $350,000 Dearborn street mail robbery.

Mr. Reich arrived in Chicago last night, just before leaving for the government prison, that he will present affidavits from various witnesses of the Pullman mail robbery, for which Murphy was still under indictment, although the holdup preceded the Dearborn robbery by almost a year.

Block Other Parole Efforts.

The old indictments thus far have called "Big Tim" in his efforts to have his petition for parole entertained, although he has been eligible for consideration of parole for five months.

The affidavits which he will present to the parole board purport to show that Fahy "framed" the identification which caused Murphy to be indicted in the Pullman case, Attorney Reich said. He added that the witnesses repudiate the original accusations made by the bureau of identification, where Murphy's picture was shown to them, and "face to face raps" made when the witnesses saw Murphy in the city hall.

Calls Fahy "Framer."

Mr. Reich stated he had an abundance of documentary evidence that Fahy promised to "take care" of John Crawford, 11256 Watt street, and William Mikynski, 10743 Stephenson avenue, if they would promise to "sit tight" after the mail robbery. Mr. Crawford and Mikynski were youths employed by John Minch, mail driver, to assist him in handling the pouches which were stolen by the mail robbers.

AT THE WALKS.

Sept. 4.—Why has the idea of sidewalks been discarded?

Elevated walks are a good way to relieve downtown congestion of automobiles, trucks, etc., since cars off the surface let the pedestrians off. Which transit lines are planning their services. Better than that more people will be downtown. With better facilities more people come to downtown offices. More attracted to the greater offered in the bigger stores.

Automobile transportation is offered, too early to plan to take question which not only concerns Chicago, but is a big hit now at the present time.

Walks are the only way. If management continues, Chicago is in a safe flight a few years. Just as elevated sidewalks in Denver, in addition to subways rapid transit service.

IN DOOR FOR EVANSTON.

Sept. 4.—Last night while out walking with a friend on Madison road spotted my auring friend the Commerce building from my car. Presently a man came along and ordered me because we did not have on license. We remonstrated but we were not merrymakers, but it seems that the commercial building across the street has a raised curb and its iron. Perhaps the mission effected the open door is not better lay down their feet; we have a pretty hard closed door right here in Illinois for them to work on.

ALTON HAS TWO CRACK TRAINS ON EXHIBITION

Down at the union station platform two new Chicago and Alton trains, representing an investment of $1,000,000, are being visited and admired by crowds. The trains, bright in their varnish, upholstery and finishing, were built to complement the new Union station and to take care of the increased traffic when the new station is opened on Christmas day.

Officials of the road exhibited the trains yesterday to a group of special guests. Today and tomorrow they are open for the inspection of the public and every one is invited to go through the trains.

The two trains will be placed in operation between Chicago and St. Louis and will make their first trip on Sunday, Sept. 28, at the close of the daylight saving time period. Nine cars and a new engine complete each train. One has been named the "Republican" and the other the "Democratic." Alton officials say if La Follette is elected they will put on a third train.

DRAINAGE BOARD PICKS L. F. KING AS PRESIDENT

Warns of Crisis in Lake Level Fight.

In his inaugural speech immediately upon his election to the presidency of the sanitary district yesterday Trustee Lawrence F. King warned the public that the public in general that Chicago's lake level controversy is in a critical stage. Chicago is fighting through the sanitary district a forced fight against a heavy tax which would conserve her life.

"It is a pitiful thing," said the new president of the drainage board asserted. "Here we are as a city fighting to save ourselves and fighting to save our health and conserve her life."

Last Stand Is Near.

The question involved, he pointed out, is whether the city be allowed to divert from the lake the absolutely essential water required to prevent the spread of disease and death in the community.

"We make our stand soon," he continued. "On Nov. 10 the arguments will be presented to the United States Supreme court."

President King was succeeded by John K. Lawler (Walmer Photo) caused by the sudden death of President Healy a week ago. It was a special meeting.

John K. Lawler Succeeds King.

John K. Lawler, assistant state's attorney, was chosen to fill the vacancy as trustee caused by Mr. Healy's death and Assistant Morris Eller was elected chairman of the finance committee, a post which had been held by the new president.

Resolutions were adopted calling for the placing of all flags of the district at half staff for a month in memory of the late president. The employees of the district were granted a day off to take them a full opportunity to take part in Defense day programs today.

Real oven-baking is what makes beans best to eat and best for you.

Boiling and steaming cook away most of the bean flavor that tastes so good and most of the bean nutrient that is so good for you. Baking retains them and improves them.

You can be sure that the beans you eat are really baked in ovens if you specify Heinz Baked Beans. The label says they are baked.

TODAY'S RADIO PROGRAMS (Friday, Sept. 12) (Daylight Saving Time Throughout)

This evening will be devoted to a defense test day program at WGN (formerly WDAP), the Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel.

The Salvation Army band of forty-eight pieces, directed by Adl. Arthur Flynn, and the Perfume Quartet will join in a series of patriotic songs from 8:30 to 9:15, when the Washington ceremonies open. The program from Washington will include addresses by Secretary of War Weeks, Gen. John J. Pershing, and Gen. J. J. Carty. WEBH playing that beautiful song of love (unfinished symphony arrangement) from "Blossom Time."

Shortly after 9, small Douglas Mallock, 10, will read some of his own poems, one being "Me"—the plaint of a small boy who is blamed for something. "Why do they do it, my son pa?" I guess the reason is because a lot of times it was Me." That man Mallock was a small boy once!

Two Four Voices (fanned) were fine at WMAG. "Little Gray Mother o' Mine," delicately sung; "Song of the Voice Boatman," arrangement unusual; very effective.

Hilda Butler Barr, pianist, at KYW.

It's 10:30, and so far the evening as a whole is not one to rave about.

Think we will have to go to the Chicago theater Saturday night to see what the audience laughs at during the 6 to 8:30 organ recital.

Otto Moore, baritone, at WGN, was exceptionally pleasing. "Absence" by Metcalf, and "The Old Road," by Scott, were a real joy to hear.

Again, McLaughlin's musical readings also are thoroughly enjoyable. The writer is somewhat partial to musical readings, for a change.

Undoubtedly the best recital of the evening was by Milan Lusk, violinist, at WMAG. Fine compositions; the playing unimpassioned, but the tone true, broad, sustained, and true to pitch.

Miss Patricia Collinge, actress, will speak to you tonight over WGN (formerly WDAP). The Tribune's broadcast at the Drake hotel. (Nicholas Murray Photo.)

ACT TODAY ON $750,000 LOOP TRAFFIC PLAN

Commerce Association Is Seeking Solution.

BY J. L. JENKINS.

While a great number of Chicago's 1,000,000 milled and milled through a dredged loop streets designed for a city of 300,000 yesterday, members of the Association of Commerce traffic committee debated the feasibility of a comprehensive Chicago traffic plan.

The cost of developing such a plan, including surveys, investigation into all phases of city movement, public promotion, drawings and reports would reach about $750,000, according to the committee's estimate. Eliot T. Stevens, chairman of the committee which met in the Traffic club at the La Salle hotel.

He outlined both the advantages and difficulties the association would face in attacking this huge problem, and announced that he will submit a report on the proposal to the association's executive committee today for final action.

Giving Attenda Farley.

"The executive committee feels that the development of such a plan is feasible and within the function of the Association of Commerce, which will tackle the first draft of the job at once," said.

Chief Collins and Capt. Patrick Hogan of the police traffic division, with other members of the committee, took part in the meeting yesterday. They reported on various recommendations put in the loop road outlining districts during the last year and agreed that a complete traffic plan is essential to the city's growth.

The immediate need of the police department, they indicated, is a recommendation concerning left hand turns at the business intersections. This is also in the hands of the committee for action today. It is predicted that "no left turn" rules will be suggested for a few loop intersections.

The police department hopes to work out this turn system to dovetail with the new through routing of surface cars, which becomes effective Sunday.

Debate Left Turns.

Mal R. F. Kelker, traffic engineer, made a detailed survey of the loop road turns and found that half of the streets in the loop provide approximately the same amount of traffic. He contends by eliminating left hand turns some of the over-congested streets will be choked with more than their share of vehicles.

On the other hand, many of the wider park boards have found that the left turn restrictions on boulevards have improved traffic conditions and many believe like measures would relieve the loop.

CITE LETTERS TO SHOW SMITH AS MENTALLY ALERT

The adjective "polymorphonous," pertaining to leucocytes, white corpuscles in the human blood, was stammered into the record in Judge Claire C. Edwards' court at Waukegan yesterday. It was the most intriguing term in depositions from prominent California physicians who attended Delavan Smith, Lake Forest millionaire and publisher of the Indianapolis News, a few months before his death.

The doctors, A. Herman Zeller and Avery Newton, testified to the presence of leukemia in Mr. Smith's blood, but not enough to cause mental disorder.

In the contention of sixteen counsels, suing to have the will broken, that Mr. Smith's mind was unsound when he left his estate of two to three million to charity and employees.

Letters were read to show the publisher's mental ability. One contained a trenchant criticism of President Harding and another mingled blame and praise for ex-Senator Bevridge.

DAWES INVADES BOB'S LAIR AND HITS "PEE-WITS"

Minces No Words in Address at Milwaukee.

which attacks La Follette in his most vulnerable spot—his effort to alter the form of government by making the judiciary subordinate to the legislative branch, making congress the supreme will of the nation—will go far beyond the borders of La Follette's home state and may swing some of that wavering sentiment in other parts of the north west.

Coolidge's Name Applied.

Indeed the crowd showed its reaction to the speech. Applause for his name was warmly applauded, more especially when Gen. Dawes pictured him as the leader of the army that stood in defense of the constitution.

William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, who accompanied the Dawes party to Milwaukee, was on the platform with E. L. Fairbanks, the state chairman, and hundreds of state leaders. The Coolidge-Dawes club of Evanston and the Hamilton club of Chicago came up on a special train. There were so many people in the hall that the political lieutenants had to find seats on the floor around the stage.

"We never had a meeting like this in Milwaukee unless it was for Roosevelt or Wilson," said a Milwaukee newspaper man.

Some Walk Out; Places Filled.

Hundreds walked out early in the address when Gen. Dawes began to say La Follette was not the "wise," the "demagogue," and "captain" and "reactionary," with machine gun effect. They made a disturbance which looked as if it might have been premeditated.

But other hundreds who had been walking around the doors, barred out, tried to fill the seats. There was no serious interruption.

Gen. Dawes had been received and welcomed as a great American and a world figure from the moment he crossed the Wisconsin line. At Kenosha and Racine big crowds greeted him at the station and he made brief addresses.

Asks Electors to Turn Out.

His speech at Kenosha follows: "In this campaign I am assuming, as I always do, that the people of the United States have got round common sense. You haven't had a very large vote cast for the last four years up here in Wisconsin, but a fraction of your total registered vote. What is the reason? You haven't had issues defined on both sides. You have had one side that fights, and the other side, through some of its candidates at least, who do nothing."

"The idea of a campaign is to meet issues and not dodge them because of fear that a minority organization will hit back. That is one reason why people are lax in coming to the polls, the issue which are in the air, and the conscience of the American people are not clearly defined and we haven't got a real fight."

"Now, we are going to have a fight this time, and all I am going to try to do, to the best of my ability, is to tell the truth and define issues, trusting that the sound judgment of the people will be reached, irrespective of the personal 'peewits' who seem to be more or less perturbed by both parties for fear I will spill the beans."

Old Fashioned Campaign.

Gen. Dawes' trip by train and the torch light parade at the Milwaukee station, with the streets lined deeply all the way from the station to the auditorium, but there was little cheering.

A curious, friendly crowd. Gen. Dawes begged them to get out and vote. He told the crowd that he had voted. He told the crowd that he had exercised his voting privilege under the La Follette organization. He warned that unless the La Follette proposal to change the organic law of the nation, the shifting of the three coordinate branches of government so that the legislative end would rule, was put down the country was in great danger.

He pictured the long journey of the human race out of savagery into ordered government, the fight for the bill of rights, which he now said was endangered.

Slams at Pacifists.

"Runnymede was no pacifist meeting," he thundered.

"We ought to fight today as they did then for the bill of human rights, the inalienable rights guaranteed by the constitution."

He gave them the "rock of the continent," or the "shifting sands of nationalism."

This audience would have voted with him. But there is more than this issue in "La Follette" and many voters beyond the sight of his keen and earnest face and his rasping voice.

"What kind of government would this be?" he asked. "A government that would not have the right to pass a law taking property from one man and handing it to another, directing a man where he shall go to church, and undertaking to encroach upon the individual rights re-enforced by all civilizations?"

Would Confuse People's Minds.

"It has become the fashion of politicians, in seeking to befuddle and confuse the mind of our people in their effort to get some petty office for themselves, to use such catch phrases as 'reactionary.' They would seek to have the 'certain reactionary' raised in the mind of the listeners the picture of one who stands against honest progress in government and in favor of some status quo from which he is supposed to derive an unfair individual benefit; such reactionaries all good citizens must condemn."

"Let us not deceive ourselves. The doctrines of the Socialists of the United States, heard in this campaign by thousands of La Follette, are the reactionary doctrines. The heterogeneous collection of the representatives of organized minorities which informed the candidacy of Robert M. La Follette could never have evolved a platform of their own, so diverse were their doctrines, so impracticable and impossible their scattered viewpoints."

"It seems that there was but one man in the United States who could impose a platform upon them, and he only could do it because the cardinal principle of his platform was an attack upon the country and the constitution of the United States. The tap soundings of some parts of his platform would not have been sufficient to weld together behind him the forces against the existing order of things had not this attack upon the constitution irradiated them."

"The fact that the ultimate judge

JUDGE THOMPSON OF ILLINOIS HIGH COURT INJURED

Galesburg, Ill., Sept. 11.—Justice Floyd Thompson of the Illinois Supreme court and his wife and 3 year old daughter of Rock Island were injured when the automobile in which they were returning from the Ku Klans convention at Galesburg overturned near Sherrard last night.

The machine, caught in deep ruts, escaped Judge Thompson's control and overturned in a ditch.

Mrs. Thompson was pinned under the car and in spite of her husband's frantic efforts was held strangled by the machine but for the timely arrival of other motorists, who aided in releasing her. Judge Thompson was caught beneath the wheel and painfully hurt, but managed to release himself and worked to extricate his wife. The child was thrown clear of the car and escaped with minor injuries.

The injured were taken to Rock Island, where Mrs. Thompson was placed in St. Anthony's hospital. It was stated today that she will probably recover.

LEN IS BEHIND IN MACON COUNTY'S STRAW BALLOT

Runs Second to Coolidge, Figures Show.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Dearborn, Ill., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—The straw vote at the county fair indicates that the residents of Maco county are not wild about Len Small as governor of Illinois, although the poll favors him. However, if the contest between them were held to the county, Judge Norman L. Jones, the Democratic nominee, would put up a campaign which would make the governor's task difficult.

As showing the opposition to Small among the Republicans, mostly, 68.30 per cent of the straw cast favored the election of Coolidge. President Coolidge, while only 51.29 per cent favored Gov. Small. As between the national and state Democratic nominees, Judge Norman L. Jones of Carrollton obtained 45.15 per cent of the votes, as contrasted with 26.57 per cent for John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate. This is the first spot canvassed by THE TRIBUNE which shows a proportionately large opposition to Gov. Small.

Distribution of Votes.

The following table shows 1,062 votes distributed by the Maco county fair visitors among the four contestants for governor, and at the same time it shows how many votes each candidate for governor received from each candidate for the presidency:

	Small, Jones, La. D.	Coolidge	Davis	McDonald
Total	500 99.97	500 99.97	0	0
Votes, Pres.	500 99.97	500 99.97	0	0
Coolidge	464 99.97	1	0	0
Small	117	20	0	0
Davis	117	20	0	0
La Follette	12	2.40	1	0.50
McDonald	0	0	0	1
Total	500 99.97	500 99.97	0	1

This table shows that Gov. Small received 81.15 per cent of his votes from Coolidge, 11.59 per cent from Davis, and 7.34 per cent from La Follette. On the other hand, Judge Jones received more of his votes from Coolidge than he did from Davis.

Small's Share Under Normal.

Now take a horizontal cross section of it. Normally about 15 per cent of the independent voters in a presidential election投 for the two major parties. Democrats and Republicans it can be expected that usually 35 per cent of the Republicans and 15 per cent of the Democrats will line up in a straw vote for the Republican nominee; and the same is usually true of the Democratic and 15 per cent Republicans. The professional politicians call these "rover heads." The above table shows that 64.18 per cent of the Coolidge votes will go to Small—instead of 85.

STATE BOBCATS WILL NAME MAN FOR U. S. SENATE

BY PARKE BROWN.

Illinois La Follette forces are going to put their own candidate for United States senator into the race against Charles E. Deneen, Republican, and Albert A. Sprague, Democrat.

Following a meeting of the state committee yesterday Chairman J. McGowan, announced that this decision had been reached and that the name of the candidate probably will be disclosed in the last quarter of a century.

Jenkins pending to determine which is to be our nominee.

Oppose Deneen and Sprague.

"After thorough study we have come to the conclusion that neither Deneen nor Sprague is acceptable to the progressives of Illinois and that it is necessary for us to put a real progressive into the race."

Chairman McGowan suggested that the supporters refrain from going beyond the bounds of his statement in reference to the situation, but there are other facts so well known for so long a time that conjecture is unnecessary concerning the full meaning of his words.

The two candidates are Newton Jenkins, an ex-service man and a man identified with the labor movement organized in 1919.

Newton Jenkins is, or was, a Republican, and Prentiss for many years has a Democrat. It is considered more advantageous to run a Republican in this state than a Democrat. Jenkins is considered a much better vote getter than Prentiss. He is a young man. Prentiss is either 75 or 76 years old.

Under these circumstances it is not considered wise work to conclude that Chairman McGowan and his associates hope to postpone Jenkins to withdraw his announcement that he is a candidate in order that the La Follette forces may unite behind Jenkins.

The La Follette forces see in Senator Coulson's victory in Michigan "the most enthusiastic indication that the Progressive candidates have a more than excellent chance" of winning that state in November.

NAMES PRINTED ON BOXES.

Sgt. Charles H. is interrupted his march for youthful thrillers ready to step into some place at West Chicago and buy some coffee. There he found the boys—the oldest only 12—spending some of their loose change on candy and chewing gum. They had collected smashing and riding two boxes.

law passed under the present administration. Gov. Dunne, he said inaugurated the good roads plan and they could not have been consummated under Gov. Frank R. Lowden except for the interference of the war.

Upon this question on which the present governor is hanging his whole campaign to the careful avoidance of all other issues, Judge Jones went on to say that he yielded to no man in his devotion to the building of hard roads.

The La Follette forces see in Senator Coulson's victory in Michigan "the most enthusiastic indication that the Progressive candidates have a more than excellent chance" of winning that state in November.

"I have endeavored to make my position plain on this subject," said Jones, "but here and now I want to renew my pledge to the people that should I be elected governor I will extend the building of hard roads as far as possible without consideration of political effect."

Jones said that the money was provided and the plans all made for road extensions of the last four years before Small entered office and that not a mile has been built under any law passed in your tax receipts.

"When the present governor entered upon his duties it should have been the first order of business to put through a comprehensive road program without consideration of political effect."

DENEEN MAKES PLEA FOR LABOR VOTE OF STATE

Recalls Record of G.O.P. as Workers' Champion.

Montgomery, Ill., Sept. 11.—[Special]—An appeal for the support of the new vote for the Republican ticket marked the fourth day of Charles S. Egan's campaign tour, which he wound up here tonight.

The Republican nominee for United States senator spoke during the day at Mount Vernon, Centralia, Vandalia, and Pana, and at Centralia he emphasized particularly his argument that the party has taken the lead in the enforcement of laws of benefit to the workingman.

Party Mindful of Duty.—With the growth of industry and the factory system, he said, "the government can call upon more men to protect labor from undue conditions. The Republican party has been mindful of its duty in the workingmen."

"New problems have arisen by reason of the vast employment of women in industry, and the Republican party gives high standards of wages, labor and living conditions among the women employed in industry." The Republician, through Presidents Harding and Coolidge, brought about the elimination of the twelve-hour workday in industry, and the party has de-cared its faith in the principle of the eight-hour day.

Friend of Workmen.—I have referred to some matters that have been attracting recent attention, but it should not be forgotten that the Republican party has steadfastly stood for laws which enable the workingmen to have the highest rates of wages in the best money and the shortest hours and best conditions of employment in the world."

DAVIS DENOUNCES G. O. P. POLICY ON RECLAMATION

Denver Speech Calls for Honesty in Government.

BY DONALD EWING.
Denver, Colo., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Davis and brutality to the farmer—sycophants.

Republicanism, broken promises, crookedness—more synonymous.
These were the themes of John W. Davis, Democratic presidential candidate, in a speech here tonight, in which he denounced the Lincoln (Iowa) agricultural speech of Charles G. Dawes and the record of the Republican party.

Attacks Reclamation Speech.

Mr. Davis said that the speech of Davis to the sycophants of the Republicans was "a memorial to him on the foundation he has laid." He also charged that "looting" of national resources in the Teapot Dome scandal, he inquired if it were planned to erect a statue of Albert Fall as a memorial to Roosevelt's conservation work.

Government through parties, he said, was threatened with collapse because of the "Republican failure" to carry out its party pledges.

Quotes Davis' Speech.

The present spokesman of the Republican party, apparently, is the candidate for Vice President, and in a speech which he made in Lincoln on Aug. 29 he gave to those interested in irrigation and reclamation a clear index of what they have to expect if his party should continue in power," said Mr. Davis. "Let me read you his views:

"With truly American spirit desiring to accomplish development of our resources in the immediate future," he said, "we have undoubtedly put under cultivation millions of acres of land which should have been conserved as a source of food supply for future generations, and in this connection I would state that every reclamation project, whether by irrigation, drainage, furrowing, added competition at a time when we are already seriously embarrassed by overproduction."

"I invite every settler on any irrigation project to read that reassuring statement."

"It is the duty of candidates to interpret the irrigation pictures as the present interpretation, reduced to simplest terms, is a brutal statement to settlers on reclamation projects that they had no business there in the first place, and ought to leave as rapidly as possible."

MISSOURI SEEKS FINAL OUSTER OF STANDARD OIL CO.

Jefferson City, Mo., Sept. 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—A motion seeking to oust the Standard Oil Company of Indiana from Missouri for alleged violation of the state anti-trust laws was filed in the Supreme court of Missouri today by Attorney General James W. Barrett.

The action was taken by the Standard Oil Company of Indiana to expand the conditional consent issued against the company by the Supreme court in 1913 and requests that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana be barred from doing further business in Missouri.

The action was described by Attorney General Barrett as a request that the court "revoke the parole granted in 1913."

The Missouri Supreme court at that time issued a judgment declaring that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was guilty of violating the state anti-trust laws and that it should be ousted from the state.

The ousted oil company made conditional, however, that the company was free to remain and do business in the state upon express condition

STATE CHARGES PERJURY; CLOSES IN SMALL CASE

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Closing arguments for the state in the treasury interest accounting suit against Gov. Len Small were finished tonight by First Assistant Attorney General Clarence N. Board. Master in Chancery Frank W. Burton adjourned the hearing until next Monday, when H. Werner W. Schroeder, counsel for the governor, will begin the defense arguments.

"Out of their own mouths have the officers of the Standard Oil company of Indiana uttered their condemnation," asserts the attorney general.

They have confessed the existence of contracts which destroy competition and which were made for the purpose of destroying competition. The contracts are as clear a violation of the anti-trust laws as could be written on paper."

"At last it is understood why the various Standard Oil companies do not sell in each other's territory. They have a definite and explicit agreement not to do so."

COMPANY MAKES REPLY.

At the Chicago offices of the Standard Oil company of Indiana a brief statement was made in regard to the court action brought in Missouri. It was as follows:

"The Missouri proceedings involve only the complicated legal rights of the owner of a United States patent. The attorneys for the company appear to be entirely confident of the validity of the contracts which the company has made. The only effect of the contracts upon the genuine supply of the market has been to increase gasoline production and to increase competition between market areas."

Mr. Board, in the closing arguments, attempted to shatter the testimony of Small himself.

"Evasion of witness—lies and perjury—absurd and misleading testimony—use of memory—ridiculous and false"—these were expressions used by Board in attacking testimony for the defense.

Elijah, Ill., Sept. 11.—The trial of Warren J. Lincoln, accused of the murder of his brother Byron L. Lincoln Oct. 6, by Judge E. C. Johnson, circuit court at Elgin, was postponed by attorney Charles L. Abbott, who was originally scheduled Monday.

TOLL OF SPEED GOES TO 451 BY DEATH OF THREE

Warren Lincoln Murder Trial Postponed to Oct. 6

Eglin, Ill., Sept. 11.—[Special]—Trial of Warren J. Lincoln, of Aurora, confessed murderer of his wife and her lover, Byron L. Brown, was adjourned Oct. 6, by Judge E. Newhall in the circuit court at Geneva today, following a conference between the court, defense counsel and state's attorney Charles L. Abbott. The trial was originally scheduled to open next Monday.

HANDS OF DEATH

The hands of the clock indicate the number of deaths by auto, guns, and moonshine in Cook county since Jan. 1.

WOMAN DROPS DEAD ON STREET. John Rau, 1140 South Des Plaines street, who was found unconscious in his home Monday, was taken to the county hospital, where he died yesterday, supposedly from heart trouble. The police were told by neighbors that Rau had been drinking heavily at 1 a.m.

FILIPINOS BAIT GEN. WOOD WITH TRICK POLITICS

[Chicago Tribune Service News Service.] MANILA, Sept. 11.—Indications are that the conflict between Governor-General Wood and the legislature will be reviewed and with full force.

The senate some time ago notified the governor general it would refuse to confirm the appointment of anybody but Filipinos. This particularly was aimed at Maj. C. E. Livingstone, who was appointed governor of Moro province. It is evident, however, an impending Moro outbreak and its consequences to a request from practically all the Moro chiefs there. The senate became alarmed at this appointment.

Mr. Wood recently intimated that he might appoint Maj. Livingstone as acting governor, which he is legally entitled to do. The senate, charged with this is not constitutional, demands the fact that they have limited the governor's freedom of choice by refusing to confirm American appointees. The governor now intimates that he will veto a bill appropriating $60,000 ($10,000) for expenses for the legislative session so far as being excessive. This is expected to create more friction.

It is insistently rumored that Governor-General Wood is slated to be war secretary if President Coolidge is reelected.

DEATH DUE TO MOONSHINE. John Rau, 1140 South Des Plaines street, who was found unconscious in his home Monday, was taken to the county hospital, where he died yesterday, supposedly from heart trouble. The police were told by neighbors that Rau had been drinking heavily at 1 a.m.

MABEL NORMAND NAMED IN SUIT FOR $1,000,000

Norman Church Defendant in Divorce Action.

daged hand and a lot of time to kill opens the wife's narrative of hectic events.

Tells of Hospital Visits.

"Mr. Church occupied a room near that of a woman patient known as Mabel Normand," the divorce plea reads. "Said Mabel Normand was accustomed to run in and out of Mr. Church's room, the place further alleged, than that Miss Normand constantly consisted of one item—namely, a night gown. This, according to Mrs. Church, was admitted by her husband when he left the gay life among the sick and halt for the humdrum existence of his own bedside."

The complainant further requires that:

When friend husband left the hospital in August, 1923, Mabel Normand showered him with flowers and implanted a fervid kiss upon his lips.

Mabel Normand was accustomed, in the course of her sociable visits, to bring along to Church's room a flask of anti-Voistend vintage, and to share it with her new round acquaintance. Told "Naughty" Stories.

ARREST COUNTESS ON CHARGES OF KILLING HUSBAND

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service)

KERNINON was arrested today at Lan-courts. When servants arrived she said the countess had been toying with a revolver and had shot himself accidentally.

The count survived two days and he never denied his wife's story in the presence of witnesses. He did this, it was said, for the sake of his family. The count of the wounds, however, made the countess' story improbable, so she was called before an examining judge today. She contradicted herself so often that the police adopted the theory that she had shot her husband despite the fact that he had not accused her.

4 SUSPECTS IN M'GLYNN CASE ARE RELEASED

Four men, who had been arrested as suspects in the murder of Policeman Frank McGlynn were released when they were arraigned before Judge Joseph Haas yesterday because they possessed permits to carry weapons.

The permits were signed by Justice

Ridge, now under indictment for malfeasance in office, as a result of his pre-meditated defiance of an existing ordinance.

Judge Haas confiscated the permits before releasing the four men: Peter Faris, Carlos Antoni, and Michael and Louis Midir.

"My hands were tied in this case and I had to discharge these defendants," the judge explained, "because of an Appellate court decision which reversed a jail sentence and fine in the case of 'Spike' O'Donnell, who was arrested in Chicago and kept in jail in Chicago on a permit issued by a justice outside the city."

KIDNAP CASHIER ON BUSY STREET; STEAL $1,700

Gus Anderson, 5550 Aberdeen street, a cashier for the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, 4656 Cottage Grove avenue, was held up yesterday and robbed of $1,700 by four men while en route to the Washington Park National bank, 93rd street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Anderson was carrying the money under his coat, but when he reached 62nd street and Cottage Grove avenue, an auto drew up to the curb. Two men leaped out and, pointing revolvers at him, made him get out of their car.

Anderson was blindfolded, hurried in the bottom of the machine, until they reached an alley and ordered him to get out. The Woodlawn police are investigating.

The Man in the Shadow

By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.
Dickson is sentenced to prison for the Pendell murder, his trial and conviction a mere mistake. He was on his way home from Cape Town, South Africa, when he met and fell in love with Cecily Pendell. As Cecily was about to disembark for Paris, Dickson asked her to marry him on her return to London. To London with Cecily went Dickson. A few days later Pendell was murdered and Derek, under the name of Smith, tried and condemned for the crime. He had not noticed his family's return to England, so he had not been recognized as Lord Slakeham. Derek knew the murderers were two former associates of Pendell's, Dickson and Carstairs.

Cecily and Derek are in love, but their secret is dead, but her fiance has disappeared.

At the beginning of the story, Dickson, in prison, is recognized by one of the masters, a young chap who served with him during the war. Warder Stedding proves it to be Slakeham, and the great risk to both of them is exchanged places with the prisoner and Slakeham goes on his parole, going to see his wife, Cecily, in London. Cecily has no idea where Dickson is in London and convinces the latter that he is not Lord Slakeham. Dickson in London and, ridding himself of Dickson, finds her and takes her to the hotel where he is staying.

The next day, in the presence of Lady Macon and his uncle, Sir Richard Cathcart, Derek is married to Cecily. He bids his bride good-by, and Lady Macon accompanies Cecily to the station. Dickson is there, and he follows them by Dickson, who threatens to turn him over to the police. Slakeham, seeing the danger, runs away. Dickson calls on Detective Rason and informs him Smith has broken out of prison. The detective goes to the home office and tells them he has been no secret. Dickson takes the train up with the home office and Detective Rason, who calls him a "lousy scoundrel." The private Detective Rason is present in the interview and tells the prisoner he knows he is Lord Slakeham. In order to solve the mystery surrounding Slakeham, Rason goes to the Yard. There, he and Mrs. Derek's mother, Cecily, are not really her daughter-in-law. Cecily leaves Slakeham.

Dickson is in prison, in a place in the cell for the period of his forty-eight hour leave. Dickson succeeds in locating Cecily and goes to see her. Cecily is staying at the home of her former pal, Sir Francis Barrett, a former pal of Dickson and Carstairs who had turned against them and had informed the police of his former associates' connection with the Pendell murder. Barrett's wife, Cecily, is not present, but by the time she arrives, Cecily has left. She is known as Slakeham is staying at the Quindalquivir hotel under the name of Rawton.

Dickson, accompanied part of the way by Cecily, returns to prison. Rason places a detective in Cecily's room. Dickson calls on her and she bids him into a confession.

INSTALLMENT LIX. CABRIDE CONFESSIONS.

Rason remained in the room after they were gone. He looked out of the window and saw the three enter the taxi, then stepped on the communicating door. Cecily at once appeared.

"That was a wonderful piece of work," said Rason gravely. "You realize that you have saved your husband, Lady Slakeham?"

"Yes," Cecily answered dully, "because of the telephone. But Warder Stedding?"

"Hah! A trifle. Don't think of it," said Rason. As he advanced into the room a little unsteadily, Rason caught her hands.

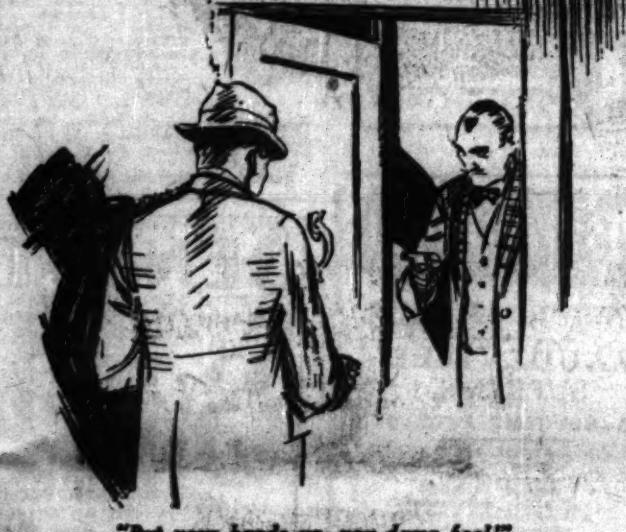

"Your hands are stone cold," he snapped.

Within two minutes of his arrival at the Yard Rason was in the chief's room.

"Please, sir, I want a warrant for Carstairs's arrest," he blurted out, and the chief all about it. Matters were just reaching the stage in which the chief's congratulations were momentarily expected when the telephone rang.

Rason waited without interest until the chief barked into the receiver:

"What! Gross carelessness on the part of your men! What? Mr. Rason's men? Tell them to report here at once!"

"Put your hands up, you damn fool!"

"They haven't let him go, sir!" gasped Rason.

"They've let him bite the end of a cigar with cyanide of potassium in it, and he's in the mortuary at the moment," said the chief grimly. "I should have thought your men would have been up to that. It's a pretty well known trick."

"It's a sin," said Rason, crestfallen.

"No, sir. My evidence is safe enough. It'll be typed from the telephone record itself, which gives recognizable voices. What about that warrant, sir?"

"If I were you I'd get along without it," answered Sir William. "I don't know what this suicide is going to land us. I advise you not to let Carstairs know about it—you'd better get him before the evening papers come out."

Ten minutes later Rason, with two men waiting in the taxi below, was knocking at the outer door of Carstairs's flat. Carstairs himself opened the door.

"Mr. Carstairs, I believe," said Rason amiably. "I am a detective and—"

I gathered that from your appearance," drawled Carstairs, with intentional rudeness. "What can I do for you?"

"I'm afraid I must refuse," answered Carstairs. "Anywhere but the Yard—the Yard always depresses me for some reason or other."

"You'll have to come all the same," said Rason imperturbably. "Dickson has given you away and you have enough good sense to know it's no good arguing about it here."

For the fraction of a second only did the elegant young scoundrel show the least alarm.

"I gathered as much from your insolence," he remarked, airily. "Show me your warrant, please."

Rason admitted afterwards to himself that he admired the man's cool, animal pluck, but at the moment there was urgent business to be done.

"I'm no coward," Rason's confession is good enough for us. "I'm going to take you."

"A man who is going to be hanged," drawled Carstairs, "can take more risks than anybody in the universe. Therefore—put your hands up, you damn fool!"

As he spoke Carstairs stepped back, drew a revolver from his pocket, and waved his hand.

Rason knew it would mean certain death if he were to try to draw his revolver. As he raised his hands he measured his distance. He himself was in the room, and Carstairs in his own hall. Some five feet between them space enough!

Rason dropped on one knee, caught the door knocker, and slammed the door between himself and Carstairs. Then, leaping to the cover of the side wall, he drew his own revolver.

Still keeping his eyes on the door, he backed to a window in the corridor, pushed it open, and wrenched his handkerchief out of it. Twenty seconds later the two men were on the floor below.

"Stand where you are!" he rapped out. "Our man's armed. . . . Denison, go to the nearest constable and tell him to keep people away from his block, then wait on these stairs in case I miss him. Shoot on sight unless he throws down his gun. Bissett, go to the rear of the building in case he tries a window shot. On your way down."

Rason's voice was drowned by the crack of a revolver as Carstairs swung open the door and fired.

Carstairs swayed and dropped. Rason crouched, covering him.

"Drop that gun, Carstairs!" he ordered, but the revolver had already rolled clear of Carstairs's hand.

Rason stepped forward as Denton appeared on the landing.

"Don't shoot, I order you, get a doctor," rapped out Rason; and Denton sprinted off to obey the order.

"Look here, Carstairs," said Rason, stooping over the wounded man; "if you're dying—won't you do the fair thing by an innocent man? You're an innocent man in prison for what you did and you know it. Yet that right before you die—if you're really dying. . . . Can you hear me?"

"Finally," said Carstairs. "I'd like to help Slakeham—he's a clever devil—and he has a damn good nerve. But there's Denton."

"He's given you away," urged Rason desperately.

"You told him it would be king's evidence, I suppose? He always was a fool. Never knew any law."

"He gave you away without knowing it—himself, too. We tapped a conversation of his with the girl—with a detective."

"Well, we'll have a nice good laugh at you, you can't expect me to make it harder for him. I'm sorry for Slakeham, but—"

"Dickson is dead," broke in Rason. "He committed suicide an hour ago." He looked down into the closed eyes of the wounded man. "Can you hear me?"

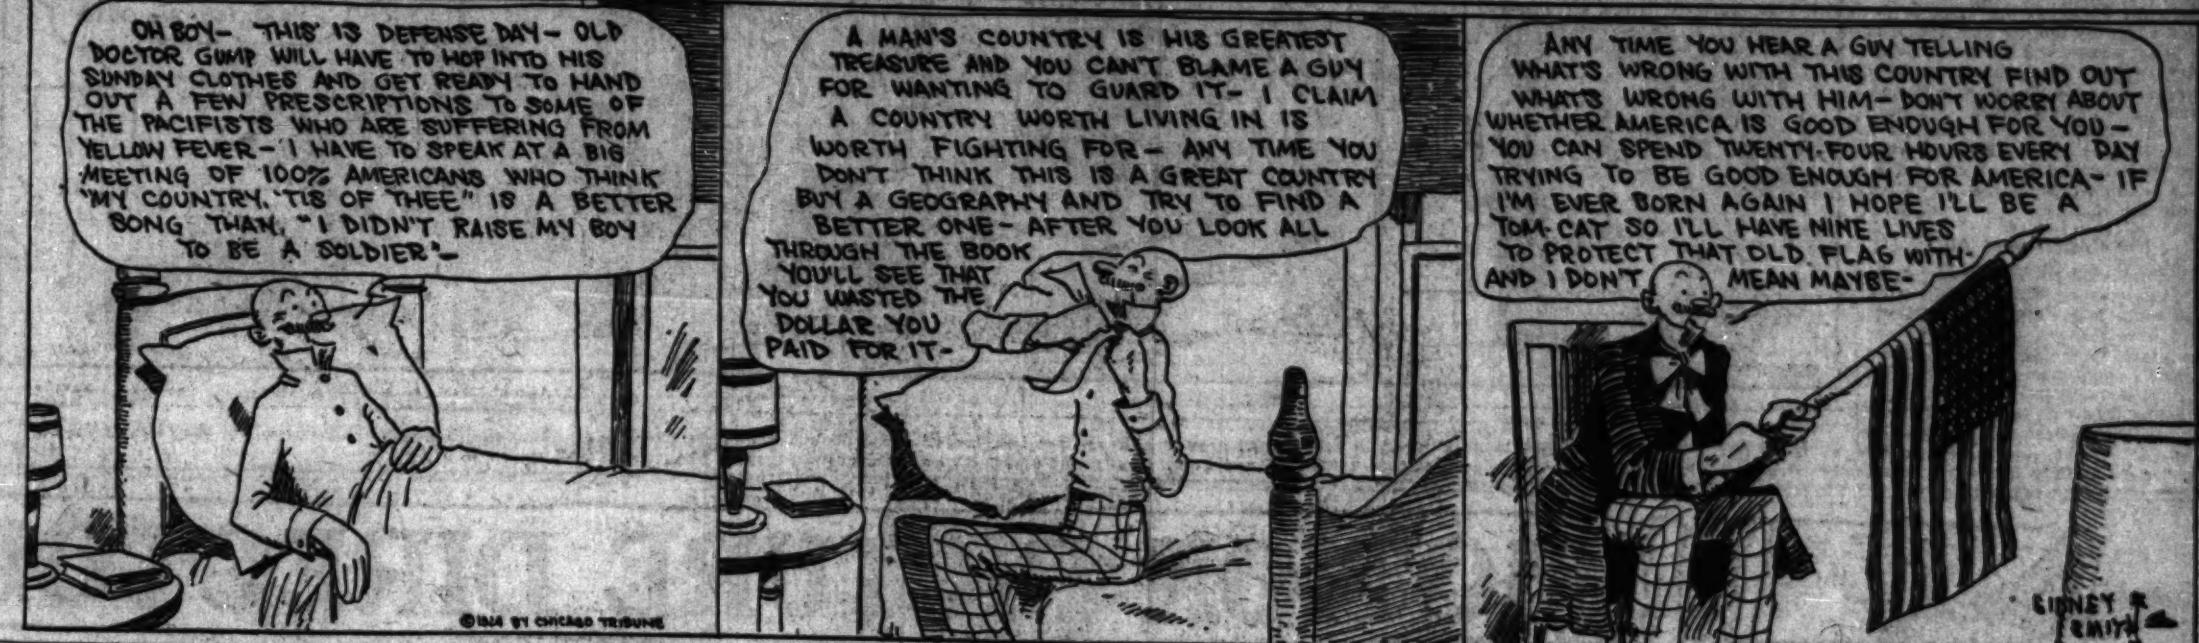

"Don't shout! If Dickson's dead—you'll find—paper and a pen in my sitting room."

Rason ran into the flat, snatched up writing materials and paper and pens in the corridor, clutching down on his hands and knees, wrote a brief, formal confession of the murder of James Pendell in conspiracy with Dickson and a further conspiracy to involve the man known as John Smith. He had just finished writing when Denton appeared followed by the doctor. Rason indicated the confession.

500,000 Fund for Care of Crippled Children Is Sought

Plans for a $500,000 foundation fund, to be raised by selling 200,000 memberships in the Illinois Society for Crippled Children, at $2.50 a share, were discussed at a meeting of the executive committee of the society at the Hotel La Salle yesterday.

Up until the present time the entire cost of the thirty clinics operated by the society has been borne by private contributions. These clinics treated 1,900 children during the last year. This year included all medical, surgical and convalescent service. A corps of visiting nurses and a clothes exchange also are operated by the organization. Many of the children are sent to school by the society.

The society was founded in 1922 by the Rev. Dr. John Day, who established the organization to give the support of Darby Day. This year the number of children treated has increased, so that it is impossible for Mr. Day to continue as the sole support of the society. Children from all over the state, between the ages of 2 to 14, are treated and cared for.

ILLINOIS F. OF L. ASSAILS DEFENSE ON EVE OF TEST

Denounces Preparedness and Klan Together.

BY THOMAS WREN.

Pearl, Ill., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—On the eve of Defense day, the Illinois Federation of Labor, in convention here, unanimously denounced the preparedness test as "a militaristic demonstration more apt to lead to another war than be helpful in establishing world peace and brotherhood."

The convention also "condemned" the activities of the Ku Klux Klan.

The anti-defense day resolution, presented by Henry Carbillo, coal miner from Zelien, asserted that the defense test was part of a plot of capitalist war mongers to build a military machine to exploit the workers. The resolution requested the state federation to go on record opposing this plan and condemning national defense day exercises and militarism in general.

Hurls Up-American Charge.

Delegate Eugene Mulligan shouted that the resolution was tinged deeply with un-Americanism. From the rear of the convention hall another shouted that the sponsor of the resolution was a "bay roll patriot of the Russian government."

A modification in phrasing of the resolution was made to reading.

"The loyalty of the Illinois Federation of Labor cannot be questioned, but it is opposed to any demonstrations that have for their purpose the feeding of flames of hate and encouraging the devil's war."

"I am not a pacifist, but I disagree with the preparedness plan," asserted John Walker, chairman of the convention. "A man who won't fight for his home shouldn't have one. But the 'dollar a day patriots' are behind the Defense day program."

Klan Fight a Nasty One.

The anti-Klan stand of the labor federation created a tumult on the convention floor. Some delegates were shouting approval of the hooded order while a minority held a strong opposition. The anti-Klan forces were led into battle by Michael Kelly of the Chicago Meat Cutters' union.

Today's controversy grew out of a resolution introduced by a state coal miner denouncing the klan. The miners' communication blamed authorship of the order for recent trouble in Harris, Ziebach, Chippewa, West Frankfort and Duvel. It suggested that the federation hold protest meetings and demonstrations in southern Illinois.

Champaign will be selected as the 1925 convention city of the federation, it was announced tonight. Springfield and Joliet were the two other contenders.

A resolution to urge United States recognition of the Russian soviet government was voted down by the convention, 255 to 107.

INDUSTRIAL HUM GROWING LOUDER IN CHICAGO AREA

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Industrial activity is increasing in Chicago and the surrounding territory according to the monthly index of the United States employment service of the department of labor.

Conditions in the Chicago industrial district, the bulletin describes thus:

"A surplus of labor is still apparent in this district, but employment conditions are gradually improving. The announcement has been made that work on over $55,000,000 worth of important street and sewer improvements will be started in the near future. Building continues at an exceptionally rapid pace, and all building tradesmen are fully employed."

Increasing activity in Chicago was reported in the textile industry during last month. Several large orders have been placed with steel plants. In this district, and indications are that the fall months will witness considerable improvement in this industry."

Activity is also increasing in the Calumet industrial district, including Gary, Hammond, East Chicago, Whiting, and Indiana Harbor. Regarding this industrial section, the report says:

"Autumn employment increased over 300. This was a picture of industrial pipe mill operations and iron production also increased somewhat at steel mills, but steel mills, iron plants, foundries, and chemical plants are still operating on part time. Cement plants and oil refineries are running overtime and will continue on this basis as long as good weather lasts."

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—[Special.]—Possibility of winding up the French debt to the United States after the Dawes plan is in full operation is understood to have been a subject of discussion at conferences participated in today by three of the seven members of the debt commission.

Edward N. Hurley of Chicago, a Democrat member of the debt commission, held a lengthy conference with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon at the latter's office.

While no announcement was made relative to the discussion, it is understood Mr. Hurley in his interview with French officials discussed the financial situation of Europe relative to the debt situation.

There have been reports that French officials have indicated a willingness to send a delegation to the United States during the winter to discuss a plan under which the French debt will be funded over a period of about sixty-five years at an interest rate somewhat lower than provided in the British settlement.

It is the opinion of Secretary Mellon that the winding up of the French debt will be accomplished toward a settlement with the French until after the Dawes plan has been in operation for a long enough period to result in a marked improvement in the financial situation of Europe.

Business men prefer the Orient to the Pacific fleet. So do government officials. So do officers in the Far East. They are experienced travelers. Here are some of the reasons:

The New York Times.

New York, Sept. 11.—[Special.] There was a moderate though irregular advance on the stock exchange today. The extent to which it was based on professional activities was shown by the shrinkage of the day's transactions to the smallest total since the week before Labor day. In only two days since June has the business been so little.

The advance in prices was more noticeable in the industrial shares than in the railways. Several of what Wall street calls "the specialties" rose to 3 points without any reference to any news. The bond market continued firm, with large total transactions on any day since the closing week of August.

After an irregular opening, in which advances and declines in many of the active issues extended to a point or more, the stock market hardened in the late dealings. There were exceptions to the general trend, such as the case of the northwestern railroads, which are holding under uncertainty connected with St. Paul's refinancing program rather than to general conditions in the railroad world.

Most of the active leaders closed at or near the high price for the day, including Steel common, Baldwin, American Can, Studebaker, Maryland Oil, New York Central and Northern Pacific.

Oil stocks had a great maintained the leadership which they have held since the earlier days of the week, and some of the independent and Standard Oil issues are up from 1 to 4 points from the low levels of Monday. Next to American Can, Maryland Oil was the most active stock on the list today.

WHEAT AND CORN SHARPLY HIGHER IN WILD MARKET

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Foreign news, with an immense export demand and a bullish construction placed on the Canadian government crop report of the previous day, was mainly responsible for a wild market in wheat and corn with a wave of short covering which swept aside all opposition, prices moved up rapidly and closed 4 to 5% higher here, with an advance of 5% @ $1.15 in Winnipeg. Exports have been taken off in all positions since the last two days, rising up to $1.00 per bushel, and the removal of hedges against the sales were instrumental in absorbing the surplus in the pit and making the bulge.

Corn grains were slow in getting started, but later prices moved up rapidly, and corn closed 20% higher and oats 1% higher. The Rice finished with a net gain of 4%.

Forwards Buying Future.

Foreign and the seaboard were persistent buyers of wheat futures, and while there was considerable selling around $1.20 for December by commission houses, the offerings were finally absorbed and toward the last there was a stampede on the part of shorts to cover. Rains continue in the United Kingdom and France, with reports that France would soon release the lower wheat crop due to rain. The Canadian government report was construed as bullish by foreigners, and Liverpool closed 24% higher. September here closed at $1.17, December at $1.20 1/2%, and May at $1.20 1/2%.

Farewell Corn Crop.

Continued sensational reports on the outcome for the new corn crop, both from official and from local experts, has begun to have some effect on the market. The latter, still dull early, became a big broad affair later, as the trade began to buy stocks. The La Crosse report that there would probably be the greatest scarcity of good grain ever known. Prices advanced 24% from the low and closed at the top, with September at $1.22, December at $1.17 1/2%, and May at $1.18 1/2%.

Foreign demand for oats and barley was fairly active, with sales of 400,000 bushels daily, but following a decline of 400,000 to 500,000 per day on the previous day. Charters were made for 1,000,000 bushels of the two grains at seaboard. Canadian government report, showing a materially larger oat crop than a month ago, had little effect.

Liquidation was on in previous days, but the strength in grains, hogs and cotton brought in good buying with a strong rally. The close was 24% higher on hogs, 1% on cotton, and 7% higher on hams. Prices follow:

Now Ready for Occupancy.

Owning Your Own Apartment
in This New Building

"Co-operative Plan"

Beautiful Apartments have been built from $4 to $6 per room with extra built-in bed.

Five rooms with two master beds, and two bath, and central front porch.

Our rooms three baths, private and fully equipped, with all possible conveniences and appliances. Home Mechanic refrigeration, illumination and vapor heat, play room, sun parlor, large back room and recreation room.

We can sell you that same apartment on reasonable terms, where, over a period of five years, your net cost to live there is only $4,826—thereby saving $7,464 in five years. Do you know an easier way to save $7,464?

WHY IS IT

That people will rent an apartment for $200 per month sometimes never realizing that in five years they have actually spent $12,000 for the privilege of making the landlord wealthy?

We can sell you that same
apartment on reasonable terms, where, over a period of five years, your net cost to live there is only $4,826—
thereby saving $7,464 in five years. Do you know an easier way to save $7,464?

These Very Reasons

Over 80% of the people in Chicago pay rent because they have never taken the time or trouble to investigate the advantages of cooperative ownership.

Leopold and Loeb Begin Serving Life Sentences in Joliet Penitentiary

BEFORE THE PRISON GATES CLANGED SHUT. Leopold and Loeb, the former in front and on the left, are admitted to the penitentiary. Leopold is bareheaded, having lost his hat in the scuffle incident to breaking through the crowd on hand to see the slayers enter the prison.

(TRIBUNE Photo)

PRISON BOUND. Richard Loeb seems worried not at all as he takes a seat in car which last night bore him to the penitentiary at Joliet.

(Story on page one.)

TRYING TO BREAK INTO PRISON. These newspapermen, who were awaiting slayers' arrival, are perhaps the only persons who ever tried to crash the gate at Joliet. Loeb and Leopold were hurried inside the enclosure and the gates slammed on everyone else.

DEFEATS CHICAGO YACHT. The champion Lake Erie sloop, Mcleish, won the first race in the Richardson cup series yesterday, beating the Chicago Yacht club's defender.

WALLOPS FIRPO. Harry Wills, colored fighter, wins every round of Gotham battle.

NAMED IN SUIT. Mabel Normand, movie actress, is accused in Los Angeles divorce action.

ANOTHER GROUP OF YOUTHFUL SLAYERS GO ON TRIAL. In the courtroom where Nathan F. Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb were tried, a new murder case was set for trial yesterday. Left to right: (1) Robert Jones, clerk; (2) Peggy Valania, (3) Lucille Marshall, (4) Anton Valania, (5) William Lydon, (6) Assistant State's Attorney Justin McCarter, and (7) Judge Hickey.

PRISON RIOT DRIVES MEN FROM STATE

Will Make Rags Weave Rags

BY JAMES D.
Joliet, Ill., Sept.
Bars, guards, sober food, coarse food, no pleasant comforts.

That is this penitentiary's name, workshop, and home, Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb are here class convicts and convicts 9185 and 9199.

They are no longer sons, college students, king and slave. Now the notorious "Babe" has confessed and convicted Roberts Franks.

Here they are just inmates, bound to obey rules or suffer the fraction. Just $200 a month is paying their debt to society.

Their uniforms
They know they are free. Once their stay in the Cell block, awaiting sentence.

Today they began to shave, life and ninety which may be whittled down to some such term as 10 years and Leopold, poor soul, will get a meal of stave, bread, bacon, if it wasn't what it was, but they were not a part of their medium to become model prisoners themselves. The ideas on what their future will be while their Bertilles were being taken.

Get Convict
They had been on conventional penitentiary diet of heavy meat, heavy, coarse, shoes too large, blue convolutional underwear, woolen shirt comprises the diet by the state.

Their own good clothes on the honor farm, civilians. Many are dressed for the clothes' sons who were Leopold and Loeb after breakfast. One convict said "Hello" and did not respond, ward if he might.

The Rev. Albert L. Davis gave a talk on Dec. 1 and 9185 and 9199 were quite interested. The "band house" which easily distinguishes this from other penitentiaries, chaplain told them, is unique compared to penitentiaries.

Weary People
Warden John L. Davis, newspaper man, in the chapel, but they were interviewed.

The next step process of measuring awaiting their turn. They said they were strained and thought after when they got there were then only 120 prisoners the morning a week. The drab said. They were too tired to come in the morning, said they had been so tired they didn't think.

Loeb said he'd respond to correspondence concerning his innocence but that almost immediately, the warden, who was young, said he would like and he thought him with the University.

Loeb was advised not to be "upset" they didn't want to give the impression he deserved better than other lawbreakers.

Admits Being Guilty
When the remanded they should use a suit. "If we have wouldn't be here."

He added that the warden would give him a chance to make amends in crime. Loeb "is a good boy, our son."

Warden John L. Davis, the chair, Doctor morning he will be day bombing was assigned to where he will sit
